

A call and its reply
a fresh token pairs each reply with its call; a caller can owe only a few replies at once

What each gate asks the IPC bit in the token, the endpoint's own required bits, the endpoint and peer lists, then a byte budget

The kernel writes the sender's name itself so it cannot be forged.